TestPro Systems deploys Semi-Automatic Wiring Machine For In-Circuit Test Fixtures

Huntsville, AL – Monday, May 2, 2005. TestPro Systems is pleased to announce the installation and deployment of a new semiautomatic wire wrap system for in-circuit test fixtures. “Initial tests confirm that this system will provide us with a dramatic improvement over conventional wire wrap techniques,” said Kevin Browder, TestPro’s in-circuit test fixture manager. “Not only will this improve our wiring accuracy, it will also allow us to turn test fixtures much faster than before.”
