TestPro Systems Inks Agreement with Taiwan Test Manufacturer

Huntsville, AL – Monday, April 5, 2005. TestPro Systems Inc. announced the signing of an OEM and Distribution Agreement with Taiwan-based Test Research Inc. Test Research is an upstart competitor for manufacturing defect analyzers, in-circuit test systems, and automatic optical inspection systems.

Present for the signing of the agreement was Anthony Wang, Director of Business Development for Test Research Inc. "We are very pleased to join TestPro in the announcement of this agreement. We believe that given the breadth of TestPro's experience and knowledge with in-circuit test systems, this will be a mutually beneficial relationship for both our companies," stated Mr. Wang. TestPro's vice president of sales, Mr. Tom Miyamoto add that "Test Research Inc.'s line of manufacturing defect analyzers and in-circuit test platforms represents the best value in manufacturing test equipment on the market today. As our customers move to drive down the cost of test, Test Research is positioned to offer cost-effective solutions for both ICT and AOI."
